

Nedscaper Winner Microsoft Security Partner of the Year: “Leading the Future of Cybersecurity”

“Cybersecurity leadership meets global impact,” says Microsoft

SCHIPHOL November 13, 2025 | Nedscaper has been awarded Microsoft’s Channel Partner of the Year 2025 for Security. The recognition highlights Nedscaper’s role as a pure-play Microsoft security partner delivering a unique Human-Touch 24/7 SOC and MXDR services. The award will be officially presented during Microsoft Ignite, which starts 18 November, and underscores Nedscaper’s innovation, scalability, and commitment to shaping the future of cybersecurity.

This achievement marks a significant milestone for Nedscaper and the broader cybersecurity ecosystem. As organizations worldwide face increasing threats, Microsoft’s recognition of Nedscaper reflects the growing importance of specialized security partners who combine technical excellence with strategic impact.

Nedscaper’s “Powered by Nedscaper” partner model, adopted by more numerous Managed Service Providers (MSPs), the partner case with Korton stood out. Driving E5 adoption, Azure consumption, and Copilot readiness, key priorities for enterprises navigating digital transformation.

A Vision Anchored in Growth and Resilience

For Nedscaper, this award is more than a meaningful recognition, it’s a validation of its mission to deliver cutting-edge security solutions while fostering global talent development. From its Amsterdam headquarters to its social impact initiatives in South Africa, Nedscaper has consistently demonstrated that cybersecurity can be both innovative and inclusive.

Thomas Verwer, CEO of Nedscaper: “This award confirms what we’ve been proving for years: cybersecurity should be practical, accessible, and human. No fear tactics, no buzzwords, just what works. We deliver results 24/7, and we’ll keep doing so. We’re not a hype. We’re here to stay. Period.”

Why Microsoft Chose Nedscaper

Microsoft based its decision on strategic fit, solution innovation, and measurable impact. Nedscaper stood out for its ability to deliver ROI-driven security solutions, embrace AI inclusion, and collaborate closely with Microsoft on future commitments.

Frank Verlaan, Channel Sales Director, Microsoft: “Nedscaper exemplifies what we look for in a partner: innovation, scalability, and a deep commitment to customer success. Their 24/7 SOC and MXDR Verified status, combined with a unique P2P model make them a strategic force multiplier for Microsoft’s security ecosystem. Beyond technology, their investment in talent development and social impact sets them apart. That’s why Nedscaper is our Channel Security Partner of the Year.”
